

To see if the full text of an article is available in the NAU Online Library:

Let's start with this sample citation:

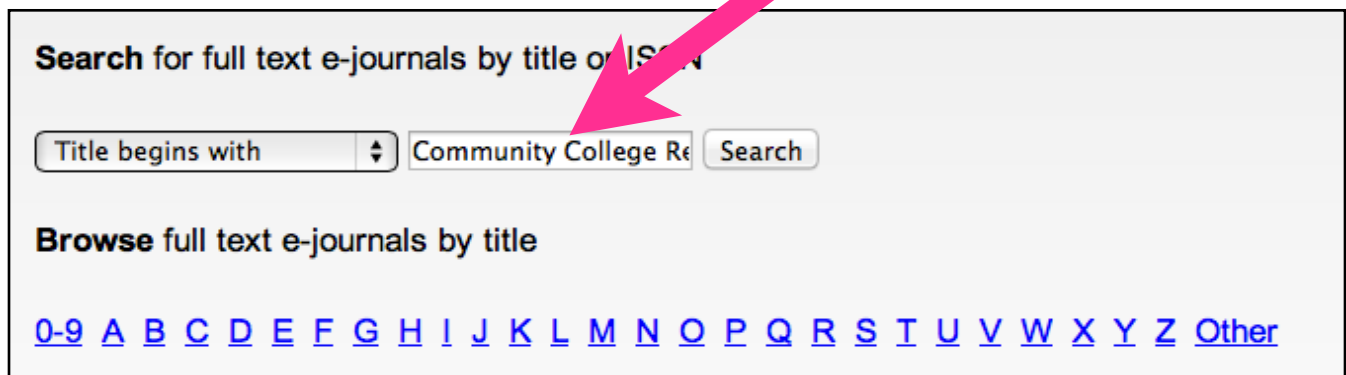

Oliver, D. E. and Hioco (2012). An Ethical Decision-Making Framework for Community College Administrators, Community College Review 40(3), 240-254.

We'll start at: <http://library.national.edu>

Choose the "Search by Journal Title" option from the Find Articles menu.

Then search for the journal title (Community College Review)

Choose a database from the list that includes the year the article you want to read was published. In our example, the article was published in 2012 so we can choose the first or third options.

Community college review (0091-5521)

from 03/01/1990 to present in Academic Search™ Premier, EBSCO Megafile, MasterFILE Premier and Professional Development Collection from 06/01/1998 to 04/30/2010 in Professional Collection

from 12/01/1998 to present in ProQuest Central, ProQuest Discovery, ProQuest Education Journals and ProQuest Research Library

At this point, you have some options. If you choose the “Search within this publication” link, you could then search for the article title to get the full text.

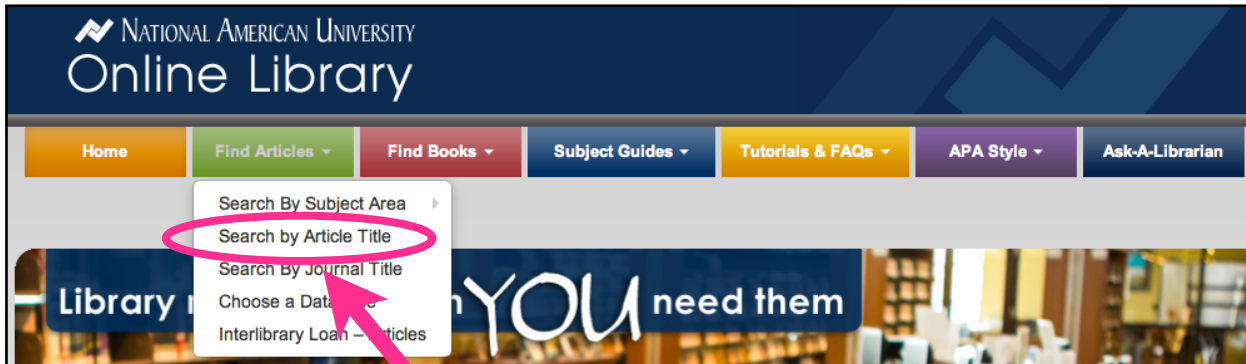

Or, you could select the 2012 issues from here and navigate to the volume and issue you need that way.

There is another way to search for the full text of an article. Start at the library home page: <http://library.national.edu>

This time, choose the "Search by ARTICLE Title" option on the Find Articles menu.

Then, fill out the form. Include the article title, journal title, date, volume, and issue (if available). All of that information must be spelled correctly. This method requires you to be much more precise - if there is a mistake, it won't take you to the article.
